

ASSYST is hiring for an Enterprise Architect to support our client in Austin, TX.

The Enterprise Architect will be responsible for translating client business and non-functional requirements into specific systems, applications, or process designs with interlocked financial modeling for large, complex technical solutions. This role requires analyzing customer service requirements and designing service solutions that meet those objectives.

Key Responsibilities:

- Translate client requirements into technical architectures and service solutions for large, complex environments.
- Serve as the primary expert in constructing solutions, scope documents, risk profiles, and financial models.
- Apply detailed industry and internal services knowledge to design industry-leading solutions.
- Develop comprehensive solutions that integrate processes, technologies, and staffing plans for customer opportunities.
- Conduct risk assessments and create remediation plans for complex service proposals.
- Participate in the development of detailed financial models aligned with service solutions.
- Draft Statements of Work and other deliverables using departmental automation tools, specifying processes, technologies, staffing, and project management requirements.
- Act as a trusted expert advisor and Subject Matter Expert for technical services, providing guidance and presentations to both internal and external stakeholders.
- Adhere to organizational Standard Operating Procedures for cost modeling, approvals, reviews, and related workflows.
- Focus on Cloud solutions, including custom-built and SaaS solutions, while also evaluating on-prem vendor products.
- Play a key role in technology selection and roadmaps for customers.
